GUMPTION,

Which is plain Common Sense, in United States language, without Educational Furbelows.

BY L. T. HOVERMALE.

HOW SHALL YE JUDGE?

In this article I want to make an argument in my own behalf, and in that alone.

In asking for office a candidate should be able to give some good reason for his candidacy other than that he wants the office.

In asking for the office of County Attorney I have at all times given the reasons that I urged for my election. Briefly I shall recite them again:

First. Twenty-five years law practice that was successful in case winning.

Second. Eight years experience as County Attorney of Menefee county, in which these things were achieved:

(a) Property tax reduced from 50c to 30c on the $100.00, or a 40 per cent reduction.

(b) Poll tax reduced from $1.50 to 50c, or a 66 2-3 per cent reduction.

(c) Secured a decision of the Court of Appeals prohibiting C. O. D. shipment of liquor.

(d) Stopped bootlegging in the county.

(e) Enforcement of the law.

Third. A grasp of the needs of the taxpayers and the courage to try to secure them.

During the six years that I have lived in Morgan you have had an opportunity to judge me and my conduct on all public questions. I have never been neutral in any question or race. Upon the bringing of any question to issue I have taken my stand boldly and openly. In every race I have openly taken a choice. I have never taken a stand on any question for the sake of popularity. In fact the side I have oftenest chosen has been unpopular. I did not ask if it would be popular to support Beckham, a dry man, against Stanley, as wet a man as a brewer; I only considered: "Is it right?" I was outspoken and worked for McChesney against the same wet Stanley.

I only mention this to contrast it with the conduct of my opponents. Who ever heard of either of them taking a decided stand on any question at any time? I am not censuring them for waiting to see what side was popular. I am only appealing to you as citizens to weigh carefully the question as to whether you want to elect a man who knows what he believes or a man that don't know what he believes until he finds out what he believes the people believe. I am going to ask my opponents to come out in the open on the proposition of good roads. Not simply a stereotyped "I'm for good roads." Anybody can say that. Will they come out and say how they would go about the getting of good roads if they should happen to be elected?

What the majority of the people want in the manner of road building I don't know, but this is the plan I shall attempt to bring about immediately after my election:

1. The appropriation for road building each year of a sum equal to the 5 per cent to the State fund; the yearly expenditure of this sum and a like sum from the State-aid fund.

2. A definite plan of road construction designed to reach and serve the people in all sections of the county.

3. To make every dollar spent in road construction bring a fair and honest return.

4. If the funds that could be raised by the method above are not enough to build roads sufficient to reach as nearly every section as practicable within a reasonably short time, supplement this fund by a bond issue large enough to give each section of the county the benefit of the money expended.

5. The best road construction possible, in view of the well established principle that the increased cost of original construction is more than offset by the less cost of up-keep.

Yes, I favor a bond issue to build roads if good roads cannot be built without it. I know full well that this statement will be used against me for all the words will bear, but they are my convictions and I stand or fall with them.

Already I can mentally see Breck and Henry and John H. and John W. grabbing this issue wet from the press and hunting up some citizen whom they think they can prejudice and saying: "Hovermale favors a bond issue." Now, what I want them to do is to tell the people how they propose to help build roads.

Parenthetically, one of my opponents apparently never gets tired of talking about my big feet. Happily I am not sensitive about my feet, else I might retaliate by telling how real lawyers consider his legal pretensions a huge joke, but I'm too good natured to do this.

A final word to my friends: I have the race won if you will "sit tight in the boat" and hold fast. When the quiet, thinking citizens who are for me have cast their ballots and been counted, my opponents are due a surprise. I believe that I will be nominated.

But I want you to help.

Democrat Sounds a Warning.

Editor Courier:

With the primary only about ten days off, it behooves every Democrat in Morgan county to look well into the candidacy of every candidate and see what forces are behind each man's candidacy. In the legislative race this is especially important. It would be well if the Democratic voters of the county would inquire into and see who and what forces are backing each of the candidates for this office. If this is done there will be no regrets in the future, if we vote as a good Democratic conscience dictates.

As one Democrat I do not want the whiskey crowd to dictate to me how I shall vote, and I think that it is high time that we show them that we are free and untrammelled voters who resent the idea of having to be dictated to in casting our votes. The whiskey men want to control and organize the next session of the Legislature, and will have their strikers and emissaries here to tell you how to vote. It should be the duty of those of us who want the temperance idea to be handled by temperance men to watch well who these men are supporting, and vote accordingly. The thing to do is to vote against the candidate who is backed by the agents of the whiskey crowd and of organized political greed and office brokerage.

We should look carefully into this matter as it will vitally affect us, not only in the legislation on the liquor question but upon all other legislation. With the whiskey men in control of the legislature all matters of legislation will be made subservient to the interests of that crowd, and no bill can pass for anything that does not have the O. K. tag of the whiskey bosses on it. School legislation, farm legislation, good roads legislation, all will have to beg to the liquor interests to get anything.

A DEMOCRAT.

Accepts High School Principalship.

Our townsman, W. R. Sebastian, has been elected to and has accepted the position of principal of the high school at Wayland, on the waters of the Big Sandy. We congratulate the town of Wayland upon their securing Mr. Sebastian, and we are glad that the new position carries with it an increased salary to our neighbor.

Mr. Sebastian is a young man of excellent character and attainments and has made a splendid record as a teacher in this county. He has taught in the rural schools and in our graded school and in every position has given perfect satisfaction. He is a young man of unbounded enthusiasm and energy, and we predict that the Wayland school under his guidance will make a new record for progress.

We commend Mr. Sebastian and his family to the people of Wayland as Christian people and trust that their residence in their town will be mutually pleasant and profitable for all concerned.

To the voters of Morgan county: It is being told by my opponents that I am going to quit the race for Jailer in their favor. I want to say that this is false and untrue in whole or in part, and started for political gain for them.

I am in the race to the finish and expect to win this nomination. Mr. G. W. Stacy came to me and offered me $200 if I would quit the race in his favor and he would line me up with C. P. Goveidon for Jailer four years from now and elect us but this is out of Mr. Stacy's power. All I ask of my opponents is to tell the truth and they will get along much better.

JOE ROE WELLS.

H. B. Hamilton, of Silver Hill, joined the Courier family while in town last week.

To the voters of Morgan county:

I have tried to avoid being drawn into controversy with my opponent, which however friendly at the beginning always ends in mud-slinging.

I am asking your support because 88 per cent of the teachers have asked me to stand for re-election. I would give their names but as I have said before many of them have near relatives who are candidates for office at the present time. Under my administration twenty new school houses have been built and a number of others repaired. We have kept the school fund out of debt and we are about the only county in eastern Kentucky that can say so much.

I never knew that I was such a bad man until I announced as a candidate for re-election. Did you? It has been rumored in certain parts of the county that I order and drink large quantities of whiskey. Now, for the benefit of those who don't know, I will say that I never ordered a package of whiskey for my own personal use in my life and if any one can find where I have received a package of whiskey at Index, Wrigley or any other depot in the United States, I will withdraw from the race.

I promise you that if nominated and elected I will use every effort at my command to build up the educational interests of our county.

JAS. W. DAVIS.

Welcome Visitors.

On last Sunday a delegation of about twenty-five members of the Jr. O. U. A. M., of Caney, attended the Sunday School at the Christian church here. The arrangements were to have the lodge meet with all the Sunday Schools here in a union meeting, but for some reason the plans miscarried. The lodge is devoting a great deal of time and energy to the encouragement and upbuilding of the Sunday Schools in the county, and frequently visited the schools all over the county. Mr. Willie Elam, a member of the lodge, notified the Sunday schools here that he would give to each pupil who attended Sunday School for two months without missing a Sunday a New Testament.

The Juniors is a patriotic order that is doing a wonderful work for good in the country, and we extend to the Caney lodge the heartfelt thanks of all of our Sunday School people here for their visit and their interest and trust that it will not be long until we can have them with us in greater number.

Sacrifice Sale.

The W. J. Seitz property on Main street has recently changed hands and is now offered for sale at a little over two-thirds of its real value. The property consists of a large lot, commodious modern dwelling with bathroom and water works. Another building on the corner of the lot which can be used for either a business or dwelling house.

Barn and other outbuildings. This is one of the most desirable pieces of property in West Liberty and can be bought at a great bargain. Apply to Courier, West Liberty, Ky.

More than a Taste.

"So you've been having a taste of camp life?"

"A taste? Say, there were flies in the milk, ants in the sugar and gnats in the butter."

—EX.

To the voters of Morgan and Wolfe counties:—

As it has come to that point in my race for Representative where my opponents and their friends are resorting to every known political trick to deceive you and poison your minds against me, I take this opportunity of refuting some of the falsehoods which they have started, asking you to read what I have to say and then pass it on to your neighbors.

Twice in the good county of Wolfe and once in Morgan they have started the rumor and scattered it broadcast that I had quit the race. This rumor was absolutely unfounded and was the offspring of desperate, malicious hearts, who, with defeat staring them in the face, in their desperation are ready and willing to resort to any method however low and debased, to rob me of votes.

One of my opponents I am reliably informed, has been telling the laboring men around Cannel City that I had made the remark that "I was not depending on overall men for my votes." That my friends is a deliberate lie of the first water, and the death-song of a dying two-by-four politician. If it were not for the laboring people of this district who have been duped, swindled and sold by machine politics until they are almost hopelessly buried in the cesspool of graft and corruption, I would not be in this race. I am the laboring man's candidate, and I'll stand by him so long as God gives me mind and physical strength to do it. It is because the selfish, corrupt politicians of this district realize the fact that I am able to expose their rottenness and that I will do it if elected, that they are so unfair, so unmanly and so crooked in their designs as to start such lies as this one in circulation against me.

The friends of another one of my opponents have been telling that in one of my speeches at West Liberty I made the statement that "a farmer was not fit, or did not know enough to be a member of our legislature." Two or three hundred of my friends heard my speeches and two or three hundred of you know that this rumor is a deliberate lie. I have always held the farmers up as being the very backbone of our country, and there are farmers who are qualified and in every way competent to fill the governor's chair of this State. If I am elected I will be elected by farmer's votes, and when elected I propose to put a lot of blood-sucking politicians, who live from the honest toil of the laboring class, out of business and give the farmers and their families a chance.

Another rumor being circulated is, that I have sold out to the present administration and to the liquor interests. That rumor my friends, — that black hearted lie, — originated in West Liberty and was started by a man who would trade on your votes as he would your cattle or your hogs. He is a man who has made what he has got in politics, and who stands out today pre-eminently the king of hoodlers who support men for a job of some kind. It is such men as he that has plunged Kentucky four million dollars in debt, leaving the burden of his "patronage filled" purse on you and your sons. Listen my friends, if the present Administration is for me, I am grateful for it and have no apologies to make. I have not sacrificed one principle I advocate or surrendered a single plank in my platform in order to secure any man's vote or political support, and God helping me I shall not. I am under no obligations to the Governor of this state or anyone else, and if elected I shall carry out my every promise to you or die in the attempt. I propose to fight the liquor traffic and help drive it from Kentucky, and I would call your attention to the fact that I started my fight against it three years ago when for seven weeks I was in the field at my own expense fighting to make it an issue in the gubernatorial campaign of this State. Where were my opponents at that time? Did you see them in their saddles fighting liquor? I cannot be bought, for my integrity is above the price of gold. I cannot be influenced except by the common people for whom I am making this fight, and when I am elected I want the farmers, the coal miners, the lumbermen and the railway men who live by honest toil, to come to West Liberty, to Frankfort, or to write me at either place, and make their wants known. I want them to establish themselves as my board of advisors — for to them first, last and all the time will I devote my time and my efforts. There will be no representatives of the Haley-Cox machine, or any other machine, behind closed doors to throttle me and say vote "yea" or vote "nay" or appoint this or that. Thank God I am above that and they know it, hence their bitter, persecuting opposition to me.

Tell Us What You'll Do.

We have never had a candidate for office in Morgan county who has not in some way claimed to be for good roads. After they are elected they still favor good roads, but they want the other fellow to take the first step.

Among the present candidates for County Judge and County Attorney, they all say they are in favor of good roads, but none tell us what definite plans they have in mind or what they expect to do if elected.

Morgan county ought to be ashamed of its backwardness in the building of roads and it surely is high time some definite plan should be advocated which will at least give us an improvement over our present system.

A number of prominent citizens of this community suggested that we demand of the present candidates for office, that they should say more than they have said on this question.

It has been suggested that those who are progressive on this question should state their views, not merely say favor good roads, but tell the people what steps they expect to take to improve our roads.

I know a number of good, influential citizens in this community and I believe all good citizens will support the candidate or candidates who will outline a plan of road-building, that is practical and possible.

What is your plan Mr. Candidate? Do you mean to favor good roads, like the county officials have done in the past, or have you the initiative to state your plans and stand by it and carry it through?

Advocating good roads and voting for men who favor good roads is absolute worthless, unless something definite and practical is advocated and carried out.

Let every man, who is disgusted with the old worn out promise of favoring good roads, support the man who gives us the most practical plan and who has the ability and courage to carry it out.

A TAX PAYER.

(Editor's note.—Mr. Hovermale's article was in type when the above was received, and though he didn't know that it would be asked, he has fully answered the question asked by "Taxpayer.")

Some Grievance!

The railroad official invited the stern citizen to communicate his troubles.

"I want you to give orders," demanded the visitor, "that the engineer of the express which passes through Elm Grove at about 11:45 be restrained from blowing his whistle on Sunday mornings."

"Impossible!" exploded the official. "What prompts you to make such a ridiculous request?"

"Well, you see," explained the citizen in an undertone, "our pastor preaches until he hears the whistle blow, and that confounded express was twenty minutes late last Sunday."

H. G. COTTE, Editor.

A big noise never indicates a wise head. It is often the pastime of the fool.

The kaiser announces that he will fight to the last gasp. Certainly, Billium; we don't expect any other outcome.

Strange, indeed, but true. Since the trenches have become the center of the stage we seldom hear hell or Mexico mentioned.

Yes, we are keen on free rides, but deliver us from an airplane with a hundred guns popping away at us. This old print shop looks powerful good to us just now.

It is the irony fate, as well as laughable. Even the hardened thieves and murderers in our jails refuse to have anything to do with the slackers when they are thrust in to serve their sentences. Verily, if the way of the transgressor is hard, it would seem that that of a slacker is hell.

The East St. Louis Lesson.

It is interesting to speculate as to what would have been the outcome of the East St. Louis affair had it occurred after our troops had been sent to France, or even had they been in camp in the far south. And the thought serves to emphasize the fact that the day is coming when troops will not be available for every local disturbance that may crop out.

Coincident with the formation of an army for foreign service, should be the organization of home guard companies. These should be composed of exempts entirely, but should be trained by competent officers, and should be gotten into shape for active duty at as early a date as possible.

The community that has not such a unit should get busy at once and organize one.

Curbing The Waste.

Just now the housewives of the country are being deluged with advice and warnings as to waste in the kitchens. In nine families out of every ten the advice is entirely superfluous, from the fact that prices and pocket-books fail to harmonize. Economy was the first lesson learned by the women when the present era of high prices opened. There is practically no waste in the average American home.

The waste and extravagance in this country is in the hotels, restaurants, cafes, etc., and in the mansions of the idle rich. Intelligent economy will never be practiced in these places so long as people persist in from six to ten course meals, of which but a small fraction is actually consumed, the residue going either to "second hand" resorts or to the swill barrel. No system of food economy can be successful that permits waste of products for no other reason than that the waster has the price.

A Field For Censorship.

A faithful field for government censorship would be in the matter of the hypocritical peace talk that periodically emanates from German subsidized correspondents and is spread broadcast throughout the country. It is a smooth game Germany is playing. By creating a widespread impression that she stands ready to consummate peace at any time, she hopes to place this government in the attitude of obstructing peace. That the insidious virus is working is seen on all hands.

It can not be too strongly impressed upon our people that peace is the last thing that Germany desires—that is, an equitable peace. Had she really desired such a peace she would have made some concrete proposals before this. Instead of so desiring, she hopes to spread dissension among her enemies that shall work to her advantage.

Congress could make no more commendable move than to establish a strict censorship of fake German peace proposals.

A Long War.

Those who imagine the war will end soon by reason of Germany's shortage of men are due to receive a jolt in an estimate of German casualties recently made public in London. According to this report, Germany has lost in killed since the beginning of the war, in round numbers, 1,500,000 men. Add to these 500,000 taken prisoners and an equal number disabled by wounds, and we have a total German casualty list of 2,000,000.

Accordingly to the most reliable estimates obtainable, Germany has on the various fronts a total of from 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 men. To these may be added through the natural growth of the population at least 750,000 soldiers yearly. By which it may be seen that at no time since the beginning of hostilities has Germany been stronger in man power than at present.

One of the most fatal errors that one can make is to underestimate the strength of a foe. That is one error this government is not making, and it explains the deep and thorough preparation that is being made for the conflict before us.

A CARD.

At a meeting of the pastors of the various churches of West Liberty it was unanimously agreed that we could do no less than to say that we must withhold our support from any candidate, for any office, whom we know to use money or liquor or other corrupt method to secure his nomination. However, this does not indicate that we espouse the cause of any particular candidate.

When the Crops are Laid By.

Some time about mid-summer a time comes when work does not press so hard on the farm. Most of the cultivated crops have been laid by, small grains and grass and clover hay have been harvested, and the usual fall work has not been commenced. This period when work is not so urgent usually comes in July or August, varying with the crops and the latitude.

It is a most fortunate thing that work does let up some during hot weather, for May and June, as well as the last of April and early in July, are trying times when the human machine has to work overtime. More sleep and rest should be taken and some form of recreation, if that is the way farmers enjoy themselves best.

A rest is in order in mid-summer—the farm because it can usually be taken and because it is needed, but not because there is nothing to do on the farm. From the time crops are laid by in early summer until they are gathered in the fall is a season of rest and recreation only for those who neglect some of the best opportunities on the farm. Every day the properly organized farm offers something to do, and more than a few days or a week or two idleness means wasted opportunity.

In many cases crops are laid by when another shallow cultivation would pay well. It would keep back the weeds ten days or two weeks longer and would extend the season of the dust mulch for the same length of time. Usually crops are laid by in time to prepare the land and sow late hay crops. Peas, soy beans and millet can be sown for hay as late as the middle of July in most of the South, and clear through the month in a great deal of the country. Sometimes corn may be planted for silage almost as late.

Another thing that is getting to be a regular practice is the preparation for winter cover and green manure crops in the latter part of summer and sowing some of them. In the long run this will prove as profitable as cultivating the crops in the spring and early summer. The yield can be raised more by growing crimson clover and other crops to make winter covers, some pasture and then a lot of vegetable matter to plow under than by any method of cultivation that can be devised. When other works let up it is time to start the plows on stubble land or other land that is not growing a crop and follow them closely with the harrow to prepare a seed bed for winter crops. The earlier this work can be done the greater are the chances for success. The land should be plowed a month before time to sow the seed and it is better if it is plowed six weeks or two months beforehand. The harrow should follow the plow and should be used often enough to maintain a mulch and to keep down weeds. Crimson clover, vetch, bur clover and the winter grains are the crops to use.

Even on land growing a crop there is often opportunity in late summer or early fall to get a clover crop. After corn has matured, and cotton has been picked over once, a crop can be started.

Oats or rye and hairy vetch can be sown in front of a one-horse cultivator if the corn and cotton are standing up and the land is not too weedy.

While many weeds need to be cut more than once a year, it helps pastures and fence rows a great deal to clip them once in mid-summer every year. The mower can be run pretty high so that the grass will not be cut close, but the seed part, as well as most of the growth of the weeds, will be destroyed.

After the crops are laid by is a good time to see what the garden needs. Crops that require most of the season usually will need working out, and a lot of other things can be planted to make vegetables in abundance till frost and many for winter use. Late cabbage can be started, late potatoes planted, navy beans can be raised for home use in the northern portion of the South, snap beans can be planted everywhere. It is the time to plant parsnips, salsify, carrots and beets for winter use. A little later both globe and salad turnips, kale, spinach, radishes, lettuce and probably English peas can be planted.

If this does not suggest enough to do after the crops are laid by the mistress of the house can find something to fill in the rest of the time at canning and working with flowers and other things in and around the house.—Southern Agriculturist.

Ask-the Price; Don't Beg.

The publishers of the average small city dailies or the weekly newspapers have not been making a fortune out of their business. If they have not done this under normal conditions how can they expect to break even under present conditions?

There is just one of two things going to happen. Either the papers are going to earn at least less money than they did previously, or the publishers are going to raise prices to meet the raise both in material and in labor.

The public accept the raise in groceries, in dry goods, in fuel, in fact in everything they buy, and they accept it as a matter of course, because the merchant does not apologize for asking the increase. And the public will accept a raise in the price of a newspaper, or the merchant will accept a raise in the price of advertising space in just the same way if the publisher asks for it on the ground that it is his due, and not simply because he cannot live without it.

Too many newspaper publishers go to their public with a plea for support instead of going to them with something to sell that is worth the price that is asked for it. The publisher cannot afford to beg, any more than the groceryman can afford to beg. He must make a saleable product and sell it at a profit. And the majority of the newspapers are saleable products. They will sell at a profitable price if the price is asked.

Poultry Pointers.

Keep the chicks busy.

Make the fowls hustle.

Cheek the first symptoms of a cold.

Old lime mortar is good for poultry and pigeons.

Variety of foods sharpen the appetite of fowls.

It never pays to feed wet or sloppy foods to your fowls or chicks.

Too much or too little food at a time is to be avoided.

A little perseverance along the lines of feeding poultry will help the digestion in the end.

Cull out every fowl for which you have no use.

Remember that regularity and persistence in earing for your fowls is a principal feature of success.

Table scraps and kitchen waste are excellent foods for all kinds of poultry.

Always have a pan, or a clean, dry board to throw soft food on for the chickens, as it saves waste and is more healthful to the fowls.

The management of growing chicks is an art pure and simple, and it is a matter of regret that all poultry raisers are not artists in this line.—Ex.

Tyrolean Yodlers. It is a thoroughly unique and altogether delightful entertainment which is presented by the Tyrolean Yodlers. They dress in the picturesque native costume and sing and warble and echo their national songs. On the zither and violin they are experts.

The Easy Way.
Judas Iscariot didn't intend
To sell out his friend;
'Twas an easier role to betray
Than defend.
When the scoffers were scoffing
he hadn't the pluck
To stand by his Master or he would have stuck.
He sneered when the scornful desperately sneered,
And jeered when with them that unitedly jeered.
He was flabby at heart and afraid to deny,
When he stood alone what he knew was a lie.
He tried to be all things to all men and failed,
And so on the cross was mankind's Savior nailed.
Judas Iscariot didn't intend
To sell out his friend;
'Twas an easier role to betray
Than defend.
It wasn't the silver that led him
astray
So much as the fear of what many would say.
He coveted praise and he trembled at sneers
And he sold out his friend for the multitude's cheers,
And no doubt he feared that he,
too, might be hurt,
So safety and ease tempted him
to desert.
The cause seemed a losing one back in his day,
And Judas selected the easiest way.

Judas Iscariot didn't intend
To sell out his friend;
'Twas an easier role to betray
Than defend.
And down through the ages the custom has grown,
And some men build never a thought of their own.
They've swayed by the many,
they tremble at jeers,
And sell out the truth for a few paltry cheers.
They haven't the courage to stand up and fight,
They'd rather be praised by the mob than be right.
Themselves and their friends and their cause they betray Because at the time it's the easiest way. — Edgar A.
Guest, Detroit Free Press.

Automobiles and Roads.

In 1916 there were 3,513,000 automobiles and 251,000 motor cycles registered in this country, according to the U. S. Office of Public Roads. The revenue they yielded in the form of licenses and registration fees was $25,865,000. The revenue had increased 42 per cent over that for 1915 and the number of cars and motor cycles had increased 43 per cent. About 92 per cent of the revenue was spent on road improvements of some kind. The use of the cars is shown by the population per car in the different states. The great agricultural state of Iowa stands first, with a car for every 11 persons, and then follow California with 12 persons to every car, Nebraska and South Dakota with 13, Kansas with 16, Montana and North Dakota with 18, Michigan with 19 and Indiana and Ohio with 20. These are all agricultural states, and it is certain, not only from these statistics but so from common knowledge, that the automobile has become a valuable part of the farmer's equipment. It is not the great manufacturing states, like New York, with a car to every 50 inhabitants, or Pennsylvania with a car to every 37, that show the highest popular use of the motor vehicle. The fact is, the farmer, like the rancher in Arizona, where there is a car for every 21 persons, finds the automobile invaluable in removing the isolation of country life, and he is now willing to concede that good roads, which will enable him to use his car at any time in the year are a necessity. Instead of complaining that good roads are only desired by the automobilist he wishes them built so that he can get the most benefit from his ownership of an automobile.

Farm Manure America's Most Valuable Crop.

Farm manure is the most valuable crop produced on the farms of America. It is reliably estimated that the manure produced each year by farm live stock in the U. S. has a fertilizing value of nearly 2½ billions of dollars, an almost incredible sum and equal to the value of the entire corn crop of the U. S. figured at the high price of $1.05 per bushel.

A dairy cow on full feed produces 68 lbs of manure per day, worth at the present market value of plant food in commercial fertilizers $2.43 per ton, or a value of $82.25 per year for each cow.

The fact is evident that if the fertility of our farms is to be maintained, Kentucky farmers must return to grass and stock farming. If wisely used our hill-sides and gentle slopes will furnish food for our posterity for thousands of years to come; but if plowed too often, and exposed to the destructive action of torrential rains, they will become as desolate as the desert hills of Spain. Let us give back to those hills and gentle slopes their green carpet of grass, put back the gentle flocks and herds, and Kentucky will take her rightful place in the forefront of progressive commonwealths, "the noblest Roman of them all."

Irving Engle. A pianist. Musical authorities predict a most promising artistic career. Has appeared as soloist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Samuel Hungerford. Violinist, an unusual artist, one of the youngest soloists who has ever appeared in conjunction with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Albert Marion Hyde. An orator who gave up the ministry for a broader field—the Chautauqua. He brings a virile vital message to every community he visits.

DINGUS

Mrs. J. W. Beuthimer is seriously ill.

Mrs. B. F. Hamilton, of Relief, visited relatives here Saturday night.

Work has begun on the new school house here.

H. B. Franklin, of Logville, has sold his farm here to Randall Williams.

Aunt Edy Williams is on the sick list.

Elder R. M. Hamilton, formerly of West Liberty, and whose present home is with A. J. Hamilton, of Relief, suffered a light stroke of paralysis one day last week. He is able to walk about the house now.

We note that there has been some suggestions offered the editor of the Courier about how to run the paper, and that he has decided, like any body else would, and that is to run it as he please. We have one suggestion to offer that would interest your readers as much as anything that could be printed. It has been the custom of the Courier to print only the vote of the candidates for the various offices in the county and not report it by precinct. As quite a lot of us don't understand the precinct number, it would be more interesting to give the name of each precinct. Also what each candidate receives in the 17 precincts.

J. F. Gillum has withdrawn from the race for magistrate, leaving Polk Pendleton, of Elma, Willie Williams, of Relief, and W. V. Smith, of Ophir, to contend for the nomination.

J. W. Perry, of West Liberty, was here last week chasing foxes.

All report a nice time and an excellent dinner.

Miss Christine McMann entertained some of her many friends at her home Monday evening.

Music was furnished by Miss Kathleen Phipp and Mr. Walter Sebastain. Games were played until a late hour and all seemed to enjoy the evening very much.

Those present were: Misses Amby Williams, Lucy Gardner, Nell Franklin, Georgia Franklin, Hazel Cottle, Linda Adkins, Cleo Bays, Fern Cottle, Kathleen Phipps, Maude Wells and Bertha Caudill. Messrs. Walter Sebastain, Curtis Maxey, Garland Arnett, Clay Phipps, Oliver Arnett, Fred Oakley, Louis Phipps, Olen Oakley, Clayton Callahan, Bill Joe Oakley, and Robert Lykins.

From a Kansas Exchange.

Goebel Cottle traded a team, wagon and harness the last of the week to John Parr for his Arabian auto. John secured the car in a trade at Emmett for his little Ford.

Sunday guests at the Phelps Lewis home were Mr. and Mrs. M. Lewis of Menoken, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pelfrey, of Index, Ky. and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Lewis and daughter, Victoria, of Silver Lake. —Rossville Reporter.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sideache, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Gonzales, Tex.—Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days. I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go. I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of my getting anything to help me. One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my path. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle. I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful head, back, and sideache. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today. 15 78

Cottage Cheese Cheap Meat Substitute.

Cottage cheese is one of the important meat substitutes, say specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It contains a larger percentage of protein (the chief material for body building) than most meats and furnishes this material at a lower cost. In every pound of cottage cheese there is about one-fifth of a pound of protein, nearly all of which is digestible. Meats, on the other hand, usually contain less protein and besides have a certain waste, such as bone and other inedible material. A pound of cottage cheese daily supplies all the protein required by the ordinary adult engaged in a sedentary occupation. The following table shows that cottage cheese is much cheaper than most meats in furnishing protein for the diet.

1.27 pounds sirloin steak.

1.09 pounds round steak.

1.37 pounds chuck rib beef.

1.53 pounds fowl.

1.58 pounds loin pork chop.

In addition to protein, cottage cheese is also rich in energy producing substances, which it furnishes at a lower cost at present prices.

PREPARING COTTAGE CHEESE.

Either skim milk or whole milk may be used. Allow this to sour until it becomes thick. Break the thick curd up by thoroughly stirring, then pour a quart of boiling water over each quart of thickened sour milk. Let the mixture stand for a moment, then put into a cheese-cloth drain bag and hang aside for several hours. Season by adding salt or salt and pepper to suit the taste, mixing the mass by thoroughly beating it. The flavor may be improved by the addition of a little cream.

When larger quantities of milk are to be made into cottage cheese or sour milk, place in a kettle or vat, raise to a temperature of 96 to 100 degrees F., and hold at this temperature for twenty minutes, after which it is drained and seasoned as indicated above. Seven pounds of milk make one pound of cottage cheese.

There will be something doing at Highland Park on all candidates day. You'll be lonesome if you don't attend.

May We Pay Your Taxes?

Under the new tax laws of Kentucky, money on deposit in bank is taxable at ten cents per $100.00. If not on deposit in bank it is subject to same tax as other personal property.

At a meeting of the directors of the Morgan County National Bank of Cannel City, Ky., July 19, 1917, the following resolution was adopted: "The Morgan County National Bank will pay taxes on deposits of regular customers, and make no charge therefor."

Assessment is made on Sept. 1st. If deposited in bank your money is not required to be listed with the Assessor.

The Weber Always Leads

ABOUT 1845, when the first Weber was built, you could not buy a better wagon than a Weber. There were no better built. Weber made "the best" his standard.

That was over seventy years ago, but the standard has been the same every year since. You know that, from the good work you have seen Weber wagons doing. You know they have been always popular.

We can show you, if you come in, that "the best" is the Weber standard today. We want to show the wagon to you in the up-to-date form, with every improvement, some of which you can't find on any other make of wagon.

You can see, here in the store, the new fifth wheel, the folding end gate, the link end rods, the strong construction of gears, wheels, and boxes. Come in the first chance you have and see this wagon.

EVERYBODY GOING

TO All Candidates' Day

At Beautiful Highland Park, West Liberty, Ky., SATURDAY, JULY 28, 1917

This is going to be the biggest day in the history of Morgan county. It is not for the special benefit of any candidate, but for the mutual interest of all candidates. It is to be a genuine old fashioned hand-shaking day, when everybody will meet in the beautiful shades of the most beautiful park in Kentucky, shake hands, tell over again old jokes, crack new ones, drink ice-cold lemonade "made in the shade and stirred with a spade."

Every candidate for any office, from Constable to County Judge, including candidates for Representative will be there. Every deputy and his brother, every friend, neighbor and well-wisher will be there to tell why his man should win.

Every candidate who wishes will be given an opportunity to speak and present his claims to the people. Plenty of good grub and cold drinks of every kind and character will be provided and sold at reasonable prices.

Games of various kinds will be indulged in by those choosing.

Music will be furnished by string band.

Arrangements will be made for a special train on the O. & K. from Adele to Index and return.

We are assured by Sheriff L. A. Lykins that every precaution will be taken to maintain good order. Come, and let the watchword be:

"Meet me at All Candidates' Day July 28, 1917."

Committee on Arrangement: John McMann, H. P. Cartmell, Chas. Franklin, D. R. Keeton.

Women and children specially invited.

HOVERMALE IS EXPERIENCED

Why Hesitate

To Elect a Man that You Know will Give You Results for your County?

Vote for the Good of your County by voting for a man who has proven himself an efficient County Attorney.

Would you hire a man to do a job of work for you whose ability and fitness for the job was not known to you, and when you could get a man that you were certain knew how?

Then, will you give less consideration to the welfare of your county, and elect an untried man of whose ability and willingness to make a good County Attorney you do not know, when a man who has the experience and a good record for faithful, tax-saving, law-enforcing service can be had?

Would that be good public business?

Elect

L. T. Hovermale
County Attorney

And you will get

Progressive, businesslike service

Sensible county management

Strict enforcement of the law

And full information as to how your tax money is expended; how much the county owes and what it is for, and 313 days' service.
